27. Schedules

1. Schedule 1 – Press Council Principles

a. Preamble:

In a democratic society, all people have the right to freedom of expression and to be informed. These rights cannot be secured unless the press is free to publish facts and opinions without fear or favour.

Freedom of the press, however, carries responsibilities to the public. Liberty does not mean license, and due regard must be given to other important freedoms, rights and values which are in the public interest.

Accordingly, the Press Council has laid down the following General Principles to which all publisher members are committed by the Council's Constitution.

The General Principles Publications are free to publish as they wish by reporting facts and expressing opinions, provided they take reasonable steps to comply with the following Principles and the Council's other Standards of Practice.

b. Accuracy and Clarity

- i. Ensure that factual material in news reports and elsewhere is accurate and not misleading, and is distinguishable from other material such as opinion
- ii. Provide a correction or other adequate remedial action if published material is significantly inaccurate or misleading.

c. Fairness and balance

- iii. Ensure that factual material is presented with reasonable fairness and balance, and that writers' expressions of opinion are not based on significantly inaccurate factual material or omission of key facts.
- iv. Ensure that where material refers adversely to a person, a fair opportunity is given for subsequent publication of a reply if that is reasonably necessary to address a possible breach of General Principle.

d. Privacy and avoidance of harm

- v. Avoid intruding on a person's reasonable expectations of privacy, unless doing so is sufficiently in the public interest.
- vi. Avoid causing or contributing materially to substantial offence, distress or prejudice, or a substantial risk to health safety, unless doing so is sufficiently in the public interest.

e. Integrity and Transparency
