Australian National University Student Media
WORKPLACE DISCRIMINATION AND HARASSMENT POLICY

1. Purpose

1. ANU Student Media is committed to providing a safe, flexible and respectful environment for staff, volunteers, clients, members and Editors, free from all forms of discrimination, bullying and sexual harassment.
2. All ANU Student Media Editors, volunteers and staff are required to treat others with dignity, courtesy and respect.
3. By effectively implementing our Workplace Discrimination and Harassment Policy we will attract and retain talented staff/volunteers and create a positive environment for staff/volunteers.

2. Scope

1. This policy applies to:
 - a. board members
 - b. all staff, including: managers and supervisors; full-time, part-time or casual, temporary or permanent staff; job candidates; student placements, apprentices, contractors, sub-contractors and volunteers
 - c. how ANU Student Media provides services to clients and how it interacts with other members of the public
 - d. all aspects of employment, recruitment and selection; conditions and benefits; training and promotion; task allocation; shifts; hours; leave arrangements; workload; equipment and transport
 - e. on-site, off-site or after hours work; work-related social functions; conferences – wherever and whenever staff may be as a result of their ANU Student Media duties
 - f. staff treatment of other staff, of clients, and of other members of the public encountered in the course of their ANU Student Media duties.

3. Staff/Volunteer Rights and Responsibilities

1. All staff/volunteers are entitled to:
 - a. recruitment and selection decisions based on merit and not affected by irrelevant personal characteristics;
 - b. work free from discrimination, bullying and sexual harassment;
 - c. the right to raise issues or to make an enquiry or complaint in a reasonable and respectful manner without being victimised;

Australian National University Student Media Workplace Discrimination and Harassment Policy

- d. reasonable flexibility in working arrangements, especially where needed to accommodate their family responsibilities, disability, religious beliefs or culture.
2. All staff/volunteers must:
 - a. follow the standards of behaviour outlined in this policy;
 - b. offer support to people who experience discrimination, bullying or sexual harassment, including providing information about how to make a complaint;
 - c. avoid gossip and respect the confidentiality of complaint resolution procedures;
 - d. treat everyone with dignity, courtesy and respect;
 - e. maintain and endorse a safe work environment;
 - f. promote equity and access in the workplace for all individuals.
 3. Editors/Managers must also:
 - a. model appropriate standards of behaviour;
 - b. take steps to educate and make staff and volunteers aware of their obligations under this policy and the law;
 - c. intervene quickly and appropriately when they become aware of inappropriate behaviour;
 - d. act fairly to resolve issues and enforce workplace behavioural standards, making sure relevant parties are heard;
 - e. help staff and volunteers resolve complaints informally;
 - f. refer formal complaints about breaches of this policy to the appropriate complaint handling officer for investigation;
 - g. ensure staff and volunteers who raise an issue or make a complaint are not victimised;
 - h. ensure that recruitment decisions are based on merit and that no discriminatory requests for information are made;
 - i. seriously consider requests for flexible work arrangements.
- #### 4. Unacceptable Workplace Conduct
1. Discrimination, bullying and sexual harassment are unacceptable at ANU Student Media and are unlawful under the following legislation:
 - a. Sex Discrimination Act 1984 (Cth)
 - b. Racial Discrimination Act 1975 (Cth)
 - c. Disability Discrimination Act 1992 (Cth)
 - d. Age Discrimination Act 2004 (Cth)
 - e. Australian Human Rights Commission Act 1986 (Cth).
 2. Staff and volunteers (including Editors) found to have engaged in such conduct might be counselled, warned or disciplined. Severe or repeated breaches can lead to formal discipline up to and including dismissal.
 3. Discrimination

Australian National University Student Media Workplace Discrimination and Harassment Policy

- a. Discrimination is treating, or proposing to treat, someone unfavourably because of a personal characteristic protected by the law, such as sex, age, race or disability.
 - b. Discrimination can occur:
 - i. Directly, when a person or group is treated less favourably than another person or group in a similar situation because of a personal characteristic protected by law (see list below).
 1. For example, a worker is harassed and humiliated because of their race; or
 2. A worker is refused promotion because they are 'too old'
 - ii. Indirectly, when an unreasonable requirement, condition or practice is imposed that has, or is likely to have, the effect of disadvantaging people with a personal characteristic protected by law (see list below).
 1. For example, redundancy is decided based on people who have had a worker's compensation claim rather than on merit.
 - c. Protected personal characteristics under Federal discrimination law include:
 - i. a disability, disease or injury, including work-related injury;
 - ii. parental status or status as a carer, for example, because they are responsible for caring for children or other family members;
 - iii. race, colour, descent, national origin, or ethnic background;
 - iv. age, whether young or old, or because of age in general;
 - v. sex;
 - vi. industrial activity, including being a member of an industrial organisation like a trade union or taking part in industrial activity, or deciding not to join a union;
 - vii. religion;
 - viii. pregnancy and breastfeeding;
 - ix. sexual orientation, intersex status or gender identity, including gay, lesbian, bisexual, transsexual, transgender, queer and heterosexual;
 - x. marital status, whether married, divorced, unmarried or in a de facto relationship or same sex relationship;
 - xi. political opinion;
 - xii. social origin;
 - xiii. medical record;
 - xiv. an association with someone who has, or is assumed to have, one of these characteristics, such as being the parent of a child with a disability.
 - d. It is also against the law to treat someone unfavourably because you assume they have a personal characteristic or may have it at some time in the future.
4. Bullying
- a. If someone is being bullied because of a personal characteristic protected by equal opportunity law, it is a form of discrimination.

Australian National University Student Media Workplace Discrimination and Harassment Policy

- b. Bullying can take many forms, including jokes, teasing, nicknames, emails, pictures, text messages, social isolation or ignoring people, or unfair work practices.
 - c. Under Federal law, this behaviour does not have to be repeated to be discrimination – it may be a one-off event.
 - d. Behaviours that may constitute bullying include:
 - i. sarcasm and other forms of demeaning language;
 - ii. threats, abuse or shouting;
 - iii. coercion;
 - iv. isolation;
 - v. inappropriate blaming;
 - vi. ganging up;
 - vii. constant unconstructive criticism;
 - viii. deliberately withholding information or equipment that a person needs to do their job or access their entitlements;
 - ix. unreasonable refusal of requests for leave, training or other workplace benefits.
 - e. Bullying is unacceptable in ANU Student Media and may also be against occupational health and safety law.
5. Sexual Harassment
- a. Sexual harassment is a specific and serious form of harassment. It is unwelcome sexual behaviour, which could be expected to make a person feel offended, humiliated or intimidated. Sexual harassment can be physical, spoken or written.
 - b. Sexual harassment can include:
 - i. comments about a person's private life or the way they look;
 - ii. sexually suggestive behaviour, such as leering or staring;
 - iii. brushing up against someone, touching, fondling or hugging;
 - iv. sexually suggestive comments or jokes;
 - v. displaying offensive screensavers, photos, calendars or objects;
 - vi. repeated unwanted requests to go out;
 - vii. requests for sex;
 - viii. sexually explicit posts on social networking sites;
 - ix. insults or taunts of a sexual nature;
 - x. intrusive questions or statements about a person's private life;
 - xi. sending sexually explicit emails or text messages;
 - xii. inappropriate advances on social networking sites;
 - xiii. accessing sexually explicit internet sites;
 - xiv. behaviour that may also be considered to be an offence under criminal law, such as physical assault, indecent exposure, sexual assault, stalking or obscene communications.
 - c. Just because someone does not object to inappropriate behaviour in the workplace at the time, it does not mean that they are consenting to the behaviour.

Australian National University Student Media Workplace Discrimination and Harassment Policy

- d. Sexual harassment is covered in the workplace when it happens at work, at work-related events, between people sharing the same workplace, or between colleagues outside of work.
- e. All staff and volunteers have the same rights and responsibilities in relation to sexual harassment.
- f. A single incident is enough to constitute sexual harassment – it doesn't have to be repeated.
- g. All incidents of sexual harassment – no matter how large or small or who is involved – require Editors and managers to respond quickly and appropriately.
- h. ANU Student Media recognises that comments and behaviour that do not offend one person can offend another. This policy requires all staff and volunteers to respect other people's limits.

6. Victimisation

- a. Victimisation is subjecting or threatening to subject someone to a detriment because they have asserted their rights under equal opportunity law, made a complaint, helped someone else make a complaint, or refused to do something because it would be discrimination, sexual harassment or victimisation. Victimisation is against the law.
- b. It is also victimisation to threaten someone (such as a witness) who may be involved in investigating an equal opportunity concern or complaint.
- c. Victimisation is a very serious breach of this policy and is likely (depending on the severity and circumstances) to result in formal discipline against the perpetrator.
- d. ANU Student Media has a zero tolerance approach to victimisation.

7. Gossip

- a. It is unacceptable for staff at ANU Student Media to talk with other Editors, staff members, clients or volunteers about any complaint of discrimination or harassment.
- b. Breaching the confidentiality of a formal complaint investigation or inappropriately disclosing personal information obtained in a professional role (for example, as an Editor) is a serious breach of this policy and may lead to formal discipline.

5. Merit at ANU Student Media

- 1. All recruitment and job selection decisions at ANU Student Media will be based on merit – the skills and abilities of the candidate as measured against the inherent requirements of the position – regardless of personal characteristics.
- 1. It is unacceptable and may be against the law to ask job candidates questions, or to in any other way seek information, about their personal characteristics, unless this can be shown to be directly relevant to a genuine requirement of the position.

6. Resolving Issues at ANU Student Media

1. ANU Student Media strongly encourages all members of the community who believes they have been discriminated against, bullied, sexually harassed or victimised to take appropriate action by contacting an Editor of the organisation.
2. ANU Student Media strongly encourages all members of the community to report behaviour that does not promote a respectful, safe and equitable work environment by contacting an Editor of the organisation.
3. Staff or volunteers who do not feel safe or confident to take such action may seek assistance from the ANUSM Editor-in-Chief, for advice and support or action on their behalf. They can be contacted at editorinchief@woroni.com.au

7. More Information

1. If you have a query about this policy or need more information please contact the ANUSM Deputy Editor-in-Chief at woronideputy@gmail.com.
