6	Management Update	Social media: Bri working on putting up scandal and enviro on website and socials (to really good engagement!!) - thx alex for help - got Jonathan working on more socials specific content like the weekly wrapped, getting him to think of his own projects etc. hoping to have meetings every fortnight - sometimes weekly when warranted Process for asking SM much better Compliment: Lizzie for running a fantastic team meeting last week despite being horrifically under the weather, great turn out and great info :)

Photography: Stock photos are done, IAC gave us too short notice but I'm trying to put Ben on ISO and Maddy is working on fashion stuff. Got some cool animal photos

Events: Hopefully everyone has done their EADs. Events met on Sunday and we distributed out some work. Once EADs are approved I will be able to distribute some more work based on the work allocations there. If you are getting events to do things it is your responsibility to check in with them and make sure they are achieving what you would like them to for your event, it's your vision which you need to communicate to them. Matthew can't read minds

Compliment: George for a) engaging really productively with Jeffrey on planning some events and b) dealing with SASS

Broadsheet: Team meeting on Friday. Got interviews with Schmidt and Pocock in mid-September. Got dimensions.

Alex: Sub eds are dropping out bc of meeting time?

Rosie: finding it hard to assign articles during meeting. I'm getting people to write articles that could go into broadsheet

Alex: looking at the when2meet that friday slot is the only time everyone is free, otherwise is 1pm when you lose 2 sub-eds

Rosie: Can liz do Fridays 12h30?

Liz: I can do this friday. Might be able to in the future

Alex: my challenge is i have no visible times

Rosie: I'm out of options for making more time for Woroni. Can we do weekends?

Alex: Can. I'll float it tomorrow

Rosie: I can't pitch ideas to people if I'm not there. Ask people to re put in times available.

Alex: moving forwards, we'll need less meetings.

Rosie: Some people have no articles. There's a high level of clash between BS and News, which isnt a bad thing but makes it difficult.

Alex: I imagine that weekends will work.

Rosie: I think a Sat or Sun lunch time which might be nicer than middle of Fridays. Less people dropping in and out.

Alex: Meetings should be shorter in the future

Rosie: Assigned more articles. Interviews - don't want to have overlaps with BS and News. At the moment its ok

Alex: Everything in the Trello that is assigned is the only thing being worked on Rosie: Is it going to be a case of people being assigned more and more?

		Alex: No. we're done. Rosie: There's a couple of news pieces that could fit. Compliment: TBC
7	Portfolio Updates	Content: New team settling in, loving all of them. Amy @ ABC internship. ABC said no. Liz sent MoU. Not a conflict of interest but "wouldn't be well received". That's a shame because she would've been a real asset. Bit of an L Alex: If she could pass on info about the clash, then maybe we can make it better in the future? Liz: Don't want to put her in a risky situation. She told me all she knew. Hope she runs next sem! Tricky timing for the new print team because unsettled was well underway, still gave them one article each, did a really good job. Claudia said Remy did a really good job specifically! Doing one on ones with the online team to nut out ideas and deadlines (most are booked). One article from Peppy in the works but needs a lot, a book review coming from Caelan, also an article about the Matildas will be coming to me tonight. Alex: the only Sports article is Jasper's so no clash Liz: Cool cool. It's just about the Matildas. I was going to suggest book reviews for the broadsheet.	Social media to make a post about listening to radio shows on Spotify as well. `

ALex: You know the way to my heart and I'm more than to allow book reviews in.

MOUs slowly trickling in and am uploading them to drive and updating office access as they do. Spooky social EAD out. Unsettled CAD with you. Thinking of asking Caelan to join Broadsheet team because excellent book reviews #london review vibes. To discuss: the letter from the editor and news items @ Rosie, should i kill to AUKUS piece?

LftE:

Liz: I like it

Jas: Maybe adding to the team page?

Alex: My only concern, if I look at other publications they're always thanking each other. But I think team page good.

Rosie: I will give you news articles tomorrow. Don't think the AUKUS article should be in the news because it is a very Solidarity Instagram post. Fact check stuff going in the mag. Got an opposing view for the news section.

Liz: Won't kill it but will fact check.

Alex: On the AUKUS piece, are you okay with the idea of stating that the author is a member of solidarity?

Liz: I will email them and check. The author has not liked on of our edit

Alex: It's unclear if Solidarity is running for StuPol and something like this can look like soft campaigning. Rather than saying that we want to out you as Solidarity, outline it as that.

Lucy: I'm not a fan of the message it sends and it gets a lot of facts wrong. I'm not a fan AUKUS but there's a lot of context + facts missing.

Rosie: They're standing with the Solidarity banner so I don't think they'll mind. Content is for student voices, I think making it accurate but they might reach a point they don't want to be in it

Liz: Lucy points: I think it fits the theme and if you have concerns with the accuracy, let me know and I will let the Sub-ed know.

Compliment: George for leading a fantastic semester of radio shows, they all look very fun

Art: unsettled be chugging. I have another team meeting this weekend where I will be checking in with everyone and how they are doing (bc they're new). Will do broadsheet layout over break. (Have we got approval for the wall? Also Rosie can I pls get the news pieces for unsettled)

Alex: No. To an extent we have a disapproval. Geraldine went to the Custodians of the Building aka Student Central, who said they wanted to use it first. Yates and I forwarded it to Brant and he said he'll see what he can do. If we're not doing anything permanent then I don't think they going to do anything for like eight months.

Compliment: Rosie has been slaying so hard and I always feel like im on top of what's going on in her team and what's coming up. And her tweet.

News: We got our two outstanding FOIs out, filed new FOIs for transfer of students between halls following disciplinary action and ykb transfers out. The FOI disclosure log has a fun spicy story ANU doing a contract about Home Affairs and ANU doing contract work for them.

Doing a fun activity where we compare Daily Market to Woolies and cCles absolutely slay, looking into claims about face recognition and health. Need more "no" voices for the voice articles so if you know anyone feel free to pass on their details.

EAD - waiting for Kambri

Ali: Katchmirr Russel and Bella Humphries could be good, would you consider offering anonymity.

Rosie: Missing phone calls. A few YES written responses. Would like the question and answers. Will reach out to Humphries, and maybe Russel if so inclined.

Ali: How is columnist going?

Rosie: I actually think okay, the AUKUS piece is alright but i think pushing for a bit more resources even behind editorial comments, the level of editorialisation is good just needs supported a lil bit.

Spoke to Luca about cadence, and trying not to defame ANU. He's made good points on protesting with Reese. Will try get that out this weekend. Adding links and facts will only make things stronger

Rosie: I met with Nick Reich (SAlt). He asked if they would have the same right of reply as last year (on the ticket analysis).

Liz: I will defer to you guys, i don't know how i feel about SAlt. I offered them edits and they ghosted me

Rosie: I don't think we can explicitly deny their submissions but make it clear that they have to accept edits and opinions.

Alex: Obviously last year, this was the agreement i oversaw as News editor. We wrote a pros and cons of SAlt's policies, at the time they were amenable to their edits. I think the content goes up online and doesn't get a lot of traction, we're writing an in depth article about them. It feels wrong to say you can't reply

Liz: I agree. It's very different from the Luca piece. We treat every piece the same they get edits and they have to cooperate, if they don't I can cut it.

Rosie: I'm happy to COI and not make any edits. Anything to stop them from ripping up a mag in the building.

Matthew: I think that they'll be the only person who will reply

Alex: It's a bit of an own goal to be the only people defending themselves.

Matthew: An actual right of reply has to be made, not just an op-ed

Rosie: About to lock in a debate time for StuPol.

compliment goes to maffew for spending money efficiently :)

Radio: Oh how the turntables. They are back if you did not see my video. They will not be for hire and also pls do not use them without letting me know first as they are very delicate.

Radio slays as usual. Aisyah has been on the ball uploading, done the past two weeks and is now waiting for my shows. Features team is recording tomorrow night (they're roaming around chiefly at like 1 am and interviewing people). Creative team has enough approvals and is gearing up for Radio plays next week and then recording in the break.

EAD - two events sowwy. Live Music (thank you Matthew) and Hottest 100. Voting comes out Wk7, you better share it with everyone you know or else.

Compliment: Matthew for helping me not kill SASS this morning

TV: Might be a bit of a leadership shake up over the break. Arabella is not enjoying her role as EP on the docuseries team, and may switch with Eliz, EP of the lifestyle team. Arabella and her team will be filming tonight, or so I'm told, and their first video will be a mockumentary on being a university student on a night out.

News team completed their first vox pop of this semester. Pending enough approvals, so please approve asap! 😊
The next video will likely be a vox pop on the Matildas. News team is hoping to have an interview with the BIPOC department sometime in the future. Originally, the Women's department was going to be involved, but this is no longer the case.

Thanks to those who approved of the Lifestyle team's first video! The next

		video they will be doing is “How to attend class as a student”. Compliments: George and Jas for being there for me during my first crying fit of the semester. Also Alex for checking in on me and helping me prepare for the EP meeting concerning Arabella and Eliz’s potential switch. Rosie: Sharlotte can keep sending me questions to clear for BIPOC interview Alex: was everyone in the vox pop everyone that was interviewed? Lucy: yes Alex: SAlt had a specific political message so we don’t want to detract from everything else that was said Lucy: yes, protest heavy video Alex: if that is the case with another video say can you go and get two more people to speak, imagine a case where each vox pop always has them, I did really enjoy it

Meeting Items
8	Media Law and Defamation Training	Matthew: training with Dan Kaufman locked in for Wednesday the 6th and Thursday the 14th of September 12pm. Dan customises the training by looking at and using our website and social media accounts as examples in the training so I think it should be really valuable. He has asked if there is anything specific people would like covered? He will cover the following:	Messages sent in individual team channels Matthew to pass George’s concern/question onto Dan for him to hopefully address Check with Dan re zoom format

		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Basics of defamation, what is and isn't defamatory, legal defences against a suit, tips on avoiding defamation including social media which increases liability due to publisher status attaching to comments on social media</li> <li>- Injurious falsehood</li> <li>- Privacy</li> <li>- Copyright</li> </ul> Does anyone want me to see if he can include anything else or specifically focus on any of these areas. I was hoping to get a mix of editors, news and content people in each session and then we should be able to fit at least the TV news team in as well and the social media team. I will put out a communication with a google form in requisite team channels and try to see how to make it work George: what happens if someone says something defamatory on air on radio 40 people split between two 20 person sessions Alex: would be good for all editors to attend. Don't treat it as options Matthew: Will hopefully be hybrid. Alex: Can we have a poster + can editors bump in chats?
9	Comms Editor proposal	So, due to the lengthy timeline, we are going to have get started on the Communications Editor position. Charlie has written up the proposal. But, I want to open the floor for a discussion if people have concerns.	Charlie to send proposal >:(

10	Election timeline	Timeline: EIC elected in mid-sem meeting (second week preferably). Editor workshop run in Week 7 (sunday?) (leaving editors and casual vacancies that are ending), nominations open in Week 8 (2 social posts). Campaigning from Week 9 -11, then elections week 11. If people have lots of questions about nomination - Charlie, workload- Alex or Respective Editor, if your position is up for election and you're contesting let us know. Don't talk to sub-eds 1-to-1 about running, shoulder tapping :/ Don't publicly endorse individuals. Matthew: Pls encourage people to run for managing editor!!!! Alex: Let your friends know Three radio episodes counts as three works. Mass board change over rip. For the Board, there's two things that would help: a) get firmly settled on whether you're running again or not, and encourage seniors to run, and b) come along to the Editor's workshop. Make sure that you're not seen to have favourites.
